Why Pedodontics Is The Best Field In Dentistry. The field of Pedodontics is one of the most fascinating fields in Dentistry, just after General Dentistry. It is a relatively young field, and it is.... Le cheni d'un bébé est une oeuvre d'art, quoiqu'un bébé tout. The Dangers of Hitting a Gasoline Tank When Picking up Gas at a Gas Station My cousin and I were discussing about this exact subject recently and so I thought that it was worth sharing with you all. The National Transportation Safety Board has suggested that the best advice when filling a tank with gasoline is to: 1. Avoid the rush, which can be dangerous. 2. Wait for others to finish filling their tanks. 3. Pay attention to the amount of gasoline in the tank, and leave only that much to go in. This is a good list of things that we should do when filling up our tanks. However, there is another danger that we should be aware of when filling our tanks. Back in the early 80's there were over 8,000 reported tank fires. If we look at the majority of the gasoline tank fires that occurred, around 75 percent of them occurred when a person was leaving the gas station without paying. I know that this is a very dangerous situation to be in. Leaving your gas tank filled with gasoline can cause severe burns, or worse. In the United States today, the NTSB has received 12,945 injury reports related to filling tanks, and 4,452 were caused by gasoline related fires. Here are some things that you should be aware of, if you are ever tempted to fill your gas tank without being sure of its contents. 1. If you are filling a gas tank that is leaking, it is best to fill it with the proper amount, or you could be putting yourself or others in danger. 2. If you are filling a gas tank that has a flammable liquid in it, it is best to wait until the tank has been filled before opening the gas tank door. 3. Gasoline
