The function should take as parameter a string and a document and apply specific styling to the element. I have seen suggestions on extending a document in E-Spera, to create a module. I don't think this is what I want to do, because I want to reuse the function throughout my documents. I want to create a function (function2_fancystyle) that will look something like this: `\documentclass{report} \usepackage{fontspec} \setmainfont{Latin Modern Roman} \begin{document} \fancystyle{function2_fancystyle} \end{document}` The above will apply font style to the text of the document. I want to use it with a document where I want to apply a different font style, so I need to pass a different argument to function2_fancystyle. I tried `ewcommand{\function2_fancystyle}[2]{ \fancystyle{function2_fancystyle} \selectfont{#1} }` But this just gave an error. How do I create a single function that I can reuse for more than one document? A: You can combine `\documentclass{report} \usepackage{fontspec} \setmainfont{Latin Modern Roman} ewcommand\function2_fancystyle[1]{% \fancystyle{function2_fancystyle} \selectfont{#1}% }` `\begin{document} \function2_fancystyle{Weiß}{Latin Modern Roman} \function2_fancystyle{Ural}{Latin Modern Roman} \end{document}` . We believe this principle applies at both the individual and the national level. • Project a vision based on values that you share with the world. • Recognize that the world will always have opinions about the choices you make. • Don't get lost in the minutiae of the details.

online family code of the philippines tagalog version September 6, 2013 :: A five-year-old girl has been killed by the parents after being forced to eat dirty and bleeding food by her mother, in Laguna town, the police said yesterday. The parents were charged with murder, and their version of the relationship between the mother and the child clashed with the father's account, who said the mother forced the girl to eat food before her third birthday. Elisa Luci was walking to a restaurant with her stepfather when they found her mother, Maryliza Luci, forcing the girl to eat a banana meal and tomato soup, said Laguna Police Chief Inspector Sherwin Reyes Jr. While in the restaurant, Maryliza Luci, a homemaker, fell into the sea and drowned, Reyes said. According to the girl's father, the mother also drugged the girl with sleeping pills after about a year of their marriage in March 2010. He said the parents used the drug to control the girl's behavior. The family, made of the couple and the girl, lived in Santa Margarita Pambansa. The family later moved to Laguna. He said his wife had also forced the child to eat food for breakfast and dinner only and that he stopped her from using sleeping pills to control her behavior. The father said he saw bruises on his daughter's body. "I noticed bruises over her back, sides, upper arms and at her stomach. The bruises were fresh," the father said. "I suspect the mother is behind the bruises," he added. The father was arrested on suspicion of child abuse, accused of having beaten his daughter with a stick. He was released after paying bail but was arrested again a few days later on suspicion of murder because there was a report that he buried the girl somewhere, the officer said. The father said the family had been living on his wife's salary as a homemaker. The father's mother, Lourdes Luci, 61, said in a statement that her granddaughter, Luci, was killed by her mother, Maryliza. Inspector Reyes said the couple was not married. The police chief said Maryliza Luci was arrested and charged last year with murder and was released on bail 570a42141b
