Upgrading from Cabal 2.0 to Cabal 2.2. Behavior change: when setting up the stack, the various GHC configuration options are no longer used in Linux distributions using GCC with compiler macro support. Only macros from CUBLAS LIBS are used when configuring the stack. Linux distributions using GCC with compiler macro support use only CUBLAS LIBS macros when configuring the stack. This means that all stack variables are now stored in a database rather than in a file.
