Offline Map Maker is a versatile and extensive mapping app, with a focus on providing users with the ability to save map content as a general offline map, for various offline purposes. Offline map content can be saved in a plethora of map providers, such as Google, Bing, Yahoo, Streetview, Bing Aerial, Apple Maps, OpenStreetMap and more, saving the most detailed, and highly-detailed maps of the given areas, which are best accompanied by the included map viewer. You can also import geocoded locations through the app, and use the ability to download multiple maps at a time, and as well as save a selection of locations in the app. What is a "Map"? A map is an area, on the earth's surface, which is illustrated using a unique numbering system of coordinates, so that the person viewing the map has an idea of where he/she is in relation to the map. "Modern" maps are usually represented through an image or a representation of the area, which are broken down in basic and basic geocoded locations. Thus allowing the person to know a location on the map, relative to other locations, in areas of interest. It is also possible to view the map content, by using the included map viewer. Manually set the boundaries of your area of interest, and download a selection of map content for whichever purpose you want. With the ability to easily save a variety of maps, the map can be used as a reference for whatever purpose one might require it. The map selection can be saved for whatever use and purpose that might be needed, for the time being. A collection of location coordinates can also be saved in the app, for later use, and hence, allowed to save a location for a future reference. As well as providing a collection of location points, additional information such as weather or the elevation of the locations can also be saved in the app. Offline Map Maker Price: Free (IAP) Price: Free What's New Adds Google Maps & Apple Maps in Known Stations function. After the Anniversary update has been available for some time, Microsoft has released and posted the list of improvements and new features as well as known bugs that users can look forward to in the Windows 10 Anniversary Update. One of the most notable features is now the ability to quickly show information on the Lock Screen, as users can quickly access information as they grab their phone. It's also noteworthy that in the New Windows 10 Update, the Windows Spotlight feature is now using smaller tiles, therefore, making the tiles much more clickable and re-usable. Despite the great improvements that have been made in the Windows 10, there are a few bugs that users should be aware of. From the date of the new Windows 10 update, 1st June 2017, there has been a loss of internet connectivity in Windows 10. There is no guarantee that the problem of internet connectivity will be solved as it is an ongoing issue. Another one of the many bugs is the newly added Microsoft Edge extension that allows access to all your saved passwords.
