AutoCAD Crack+

AutoCAD Full Crack is the world's best-selling software package for creating 2D and 3D drawings and models. Its over one million users around the world design everything from vehicle interiors to airplane wings, from power plants to surgical instruments, from airport landing strips to arcade game cabinets. Today, AutoCAD (along with AutoCAD LT) is available in more than 150 countries and in over 50 languages. Over the years, its popularity has grown with architects, engineers, contractors, drafters, students and hobbyists. By its third birthday in 1985, AutoCAD had a major impact on the computer-aided design (CAD) industry, opening the world of computer-aided design to users outside the previously exclusive realms of CAD professionals, and altering the future of computer-aided drafting for many years to come. AutoCAD LT began as AutoCAD Revue, a drawing review program that was first released in July 1985 for the Apple II. Originally targeted at architectural firms and architectural students, AutoCAD Revue was much like a review class for drafting school students, allowing them to revise their existing drawings with an interactive review tool. In May 1987, Autodesk released AutoCAD Revue as a stand-alone version for Apple II and Commodore 64, which was renamed AutoCAD in 1989. It was the first desktop version of AutoCAD available to the average computer user. AutoCAD LT continues to be developed and released. AutoCAD is a registered trademark of Autodesk, Inc. Thanks to Michael Flynn for his technical review of AutoCAD in the 1970s and 1980s. Latest News: February 2017 AutoCAD released the first version of its free and open source Civil 3D, which was renamed "AutoCAD Civil 3D" in late 2016. AutoCAD Civil 3D makes it easy to create complete building models for "the people who make things." May 2016 AutoCAD released its first comprehensive modernization in 14 years. In addition to the hundreds of bug fixes and other improvements, AutoCAD 2014 added new features such as T-splines, Sketchy visual styles and the Linear tool for freehand drawing. April 2015 AutoCAD released many updates and new features, including: Ability to import and export 3D models; A new parametric surface tool to produce seamless

Markup Assist lets you generate comments and build up hierarchies of comments as you work on your drawing and in other applications. These comments appear in a "comment cell" in your drawing, ready for you to add feedback about a drawing. Use the AutoCAD Design Assistant to generate comments and comments hierarchies as you design. This Design Assistant can be shared with fellow designers. Flood Fill: Scalable flood fill, a function that can be applied to the entire drawing or just a specific set of objects, is a powerful tool for finding duplicates. (video: 0:30 min.) Let the Software find duplicate objects. Keep only the first instance of an object. Perform object renaming on duplicate objects. If you create and use a lot of duplicate objects, you'll find AutoCAD's "keep only the first instance" and "rename duplicates" settings invaluable. DrawGrid: Enhance the quality of lines and arcs in your drawings. The new "stepped" 2D grid makes the lines in your drawing appear more contoured and organic. (video: 2:30 min.) Create a consistent, uniform grid with more control than the old AutoCAD grid. Make the grid "stepped" or "even" by choosing a grid style. Enhance the thickness of lines and arcs and make them appear more contoured. The new "stepped" 2D grid is a new geometric object and a powerful feature of AutoCAD. You'll be able to use it in many drawing contexts, including line styles, symbols, and templates. The new AutoCAD drawing grid is more versatile than the old 1D grid. You can make the grid stepped and even or uniform. There's a new "stepped" 2D grid object, which you can add and edit in all your drawings. The new grid is more versatile than the old 1D grid. You can make it stepped or even or uniform. (video: 3:00 min.) Spin and Grow: Use spin and grow to reshape or reposition objects to your drawing. (video: 0:30 min.)
