Though details are sketchy at the moment, the Times of India has reported that the suspect in the case was apprehended by the police in Faisalabad on Sunday after a 21-year-old Pakistani woman told her family that two girls had gone missing from their village in Sakrand. The family of the 21-year-old woman went to the police after they found that both the girls had not returned home after attending a party last night. Giving further details, the Indian newspaper claimed that both the girls were raped by the suspect and that the Pakistani woman was then forced to marry him. The suspect in his questioning has revealed that the girls were taken to a third country, following which both of them were raped, the Indian report said. He has also confessed to the crime.
