Have you got any information on how i can transfer it onto my new computer. Hi, i have windows 10 with this error: windows error code 0xc0000142 with an missing page. I dont know how to fix it. A few days later i can use windows as usual but not long. Beneath the skin lies a layer of fat cells called the subcutaneous adipose tissue. This is mostly found in the thighs, buttocks and breasts. Women who have more of this fat than is recommended may have a rounded face, “doll-like” bodies and double chins. Excessive amounts in other parts of the body, such as the stomach, can cause problems such as obesity, and can interfere with insulin secretion. Fasting glucose A fasting glucose test is the first thing you need to consider if you are trying to control your diabetes. This test checks the amount of glucose in your blood. Your blood glucose level is measured after you have fasted, or taken nothing by mouth, for at least 10 hours. During this time, your blood glucose level drops from a normal, healthy level of about 8mmol/L to a low of 4mmol/L. The test measures the level at this lower level. It should be done first thing in the morning after breakfast, and again at 4pm, the same day. The results are given in two numbers, fasting glucose and 2-hour post-prandial glucose. Your doctor may also want to measure your fasting plasma glucose (FPG) and haemoglobin A1c (HbA1c). These other tests are not used to assess your risk of diabetes, they are used to check you for other conditions such as anaemia and kidney disease. If your fasting glucose level is greater than 6.1mmol/L, or your 2-hour post-prandial glucose is more than 6.8mmol/L, you are at risk of developing diabetes. If your blood glucose levels are in the 6.1-6.8mmol/L range, your blood glucose levels may be checked at least once a year. Your doctor may also want to measure your HbA1c level. Fasting plasma glucose If your fasting glucose is less than 6.1mmol/L, but your post-prandial glucose is over 6.8mmol/L, your doctor will probably refer you 54b84cb42d
