Off topic: Who is the admin of this forum? Oh, I forgot, that would be me! Hi, my name is Daniel. I work as a programmer, and I'm a girl on the side. I spend the rest of my time making cool crafts, playing games, and watching bad TV. If you're new here, you may want to read the rules page before posting Re: Off Topic: Who is the admin of this forum? Oh, I forgot, that would be me! I am doing this because I am having a difficult time getting the 'right' plugin for Sketchup. A newbie can't do what I want in it. I'm not very good at it and I've spent the past couple days tinkering with this and that trying to find the right plugin. Dug out this thread from a couple years ago looking for the original description of the plugin for Sketchup and it was you guys! "Aesthetics, aesthetics, aesthetics! That's all anyone ever talks about these days. It never used to be that way." - Terry Pratchett I found the answer to my question about the bottom tab bar (it was much easier to figure out using the original post, but for future reference it is easier to add a snippet of javascript to the page using the "Edit Snippet" button). "Reinventing the wheel" is in many ways simply re-inventing the wheel. The wheel was not invented after the first time it was used. Wheel invention began with a person thinking of a wheel that would be stable on uneven ground or in a wagon - a wheel that could provide directional
