Example 1: We're going to enter the following text, using the CTRL+A shortcut Hello my friends, my name is Alexander and I am a programmer. Now, I'm going to highlight the first word with the Shift+TAB shortcut Hello my friends, my name is Alexander and I am a programmer. Recent research in the field of HIV/AIDS has emphasized the increased incidence of parent-child separation and divorce. This results in long-term consequences for children who are deprived of family support. The aim of this study was to evaluate the role of parental divorce and family conflict and psychiatric disturbance in the psychological and social adjustment of HIV-infected children. Of 149 HIV-infected children, aged 7 to 13 years, 105 were evaluated at the time of diagnosis and the rest (children born into HIV-sero-discordant heterosexual couples) at an average of 4 years after diagnosis. In analyses of risk and protective factors, only caregiver variables (parental divorce and family conflict) were significantly associated with emotional and behavioural problems, while parental discordance was negatively associated with these problems. Caregiver variables did not appear to be related to children's social problems. Parental divorce and family conflict appear to be risk factors for emotional/behavioural problems in HIV-infected children. Prevention of emotional/behavioural problems in HIV-infected children may require early intervention to reduce divorce and family conflict. These
