1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an automatic transmission for a vehicle. More particularly, the present invention relates to a planetary gear train of an automatic transmission for a vehicle that can achieve ten forward speed stages using a minimum number of constituent elements and improve power delivery performance and fuel efficiency if at least eight forward speed stages are implemented.

2. Description of the Related Art Typically, a transmission is provided in a vehicle to distribute driving force of an engine to a plurality of driving wheels and to generate a plurality of driving force according to the number of revolutions of the engine. Therefore, the transmission is essential for the vehicle. However, the transmission according to the related art provides resistance to the driving force due to gear ratio distribution, and power transmission efficiency is deteriorated due to the resistance. Therefore, recently, an automatic transmission has been developed to realize the economical efficiency and the fuel efficiency by substituting the manual transmission. Such an automatic transmission includes a case having a plurality of shift chambers, a plurality of valves for selectively supplying hydraulic pressure, a plurality of selecting switches, a plurality of planetary gear sets, a plurality of friction members, and a plurality of oil pumps, etc. However, according to the automatic transmission according to the related art, a gear ratio that is appropriately applied according to the driving condition of the vehicle is not always secured. In addition, the automatic transmission according to the related art has also the following disadvantages. That is, since the automatic transmission according to the related art has the structure in which the friction members should be operated by applying hydraulic pressure, durability is deteriorated since the durability of the friction members is low due to an excessive contact pressure. In addition, a hydraulic pressure should be continuously supplied to the friction members by using the
