FIFA is an annual video game franchise from EA SPORTS™, which is the official FIFA partner in the United States. The game simulates the sport of association football (also known as soccer or football), which is played between two teams of 11 players, on a football field, using a spherical ball. The ball can be kicked, but not struck with the feet or head. It can also be carried by hand, or with any part of the body except the hands or head. Teams compete by kicking or carrying the ball into the opponent's goal (the part of the field closest to the opponents' net) to score a goal. The team with the most goals at the end of the match is the winner. How can you control the ball in FIFA? In FIFA, you control the ball with either foot and move the player with an analogue stick. Your direction of movement in the game corresponds to the direction of movement of the ball. You can control players with the left analog stick, and move them left or right, depending on the direction you're going. You can command teammates to move into new positions by pressing the left trigger as you would with any skill in the game. How do you score goals in FIFA? To score a goal, one player on the team kicks the ball into the goal from a distance. Kicking the ball hard in FIFA will allow the ball to move faster and still will be harder to catch up to. How do you control a player in FIFA? Players use four different buttons to control movement. If the ball's in play, go into the following system. On-screen right analog stick controls where the player is going. If the player is running and the ball is not in play, use the left analog stick to move the player and left trigger to aim and shoot. If the player is running and the ball is in play, use the right analog stick to control when the player is dribbling. How can you create attacks in FIFA? There are several ways to initiate an attack in FIFA. If the player kicks the ball, use the right analog stick to control the player and the left analog stick to move him right or left. If you need your teammates to dribble past the opponent to score, use the left analog stick to control where the player is going to, and the right analog stick to control when the bc9d6d6daa
