I want to read the values, but i could not find a way to do that. A: There are several ways to access the 16-bit registers on the PIC18. You can either use the built-in peripheral registers, or access the registers through multiplexed I/O using the IOCON and IOCAP peripherals. The easiest method is to use the built-in peripheral accesses. Since you are using SRAM, we know that there will be no programming overhead for the peripheral operations -- the data is always in RAM. A typical example to write to a register is shown below: /* Write 4-bit data */ IODAT = (*IODAT >= 4; Alternately, access the registers through multiplexed I/O using IOCON and IOCAP. One example of how to use that is shown below: /* Write 4-bit data */ IOCON |= (1
