Saw some nice looking test clipboards at target yesterday and decided to pick one up. I didn't figure on doing any of the usual customization on them as it is a test. When I got them home I went to do some of the usual tricks to make them look better and be more durable by using some gold grommets to attach the handles to the board. After that it just sort of sat there. I posted this on craigslist to see what someone would say about them and also to see if there were any other options on how to customize the test clipboards. Haven't received a reply on the posting. Of course I was going to have to do something about the print on the clipboards, but when I went to get the cardboard frame to cover them up with the black boarder I discovered that the boarder isn't just a black boarder. It also had a printed whiteboarder on it with a sticky liner. Today I removed the sticky liner, cut the boarder to fit, and painted over the black boarder with black paint. Now I have pretty much custom made clipboards. Here are some pics of what they look like with the gold grommets, black boarder and a couple of samples of the new black paint. This stuff only costs $0.09 per square foot. If the person you gave it to either wants a color other than black or wants a different size boarder, you can still afford to send them to them. I know this is an old thread, and you probably have been turned away from sending these out to people. But I had to thank the person who was nice enough to list this for me. If they just posted it once in an old board, I don't know if I would have seen it. Excellent work, since I needed a personal clip for a test project. I thought they were worth a shot as being substantially cheaper than the quantity of higher quality clipboards the school I work for is demanding.Ohio State coach Urban Meyer met with a pair of players Tuesday at the school's football facility in Columbus and asked them about a reported fake quote attributed to the freshman quarterback, Braxton Miller, that compared himself with Cam Newton. Miller delivered a different account to reporters as he left the Ohio State football practice facility Tuesday and said he was the victim of Internet hoaxers who had falsely attributed an interview he gave to Wide World of Sports to an ESPN reporter.
