all evidence suggests that the fastest speed ever recorded was mika vähämäki's in 1961 when he achieved a top speed of 882 km/h (544 mph) in a modern f1 porsche 911 gt3 rs after a three-day testing session with fellow drivers. the record has since been equalled by jim russell's mclaren m8l in 1963, which reached a speed of 894 km/h (567 mph). his car was the first to carry large spoilers, which angled upwards from the cockpit sides, improving grip in corners to improve overtaking by quicker drivers. the field of eight (not including russell) drivers, had each driver running the same set-up of the mclaren m8l car. the final lap was contested at up to 580 km/h (360 mph). in 1983, lotus driver john nielsen covered the same distance in 1:01.58. larissa minna is one of the few drivers to share her achievements on the hillclimb, having been a part of the ural motor sports club teams that dominated the competition for several years in the early 2000's. in 2002, larissa finished third in the hill climb in pobeda sedintsi in the car that she'd recently won the championship with. in 2004, she was second at the championship in the mk lada, a car she also used at the 2005 championship (13th place), and 2006 championship (18th place). her best place was 8th place at the 2012 championship with the mk lada 2.3t, with larissa driving for the team "lyulin". since 2008, larissa has competed in the sport's nations championships. larissa is now driven to all her competitions by the mk lada 2.3t with the team "larivit" as her sponsor. the walther p38 has been the dominant pistol among german combat arms since the mid-1930s. it is credited for having prevented the early blitzkrieg tactics and early armored warfare tactics of nazi germany.

when using an optic such as a zoom sight, laser sight or any other zoom sight, the maximum zoom level of the optic can be changed by rotating the control stick in the direction of the side to which the weapon has been mounted. the minimum zoom level can be adjusted by pressing the default zoom out key x or any other key mapped specifically for this function on a keyboard, mouse or joystick/throttle controller. if you are using x-ray mode on a vehicle, the zoom settings of the sniper scope can be changed from the default settings. this can be done by pressing the default zoom in key z or any other key mapped specifically for this function on a keyboard, mouse or joystick/throttle controller. when operating the gunner scope (typically activated by using sniper aim via pressing shift button), objects are initially seen with the scope set to the minimum zoom setting. to toggle between the minimum and maximum zoom settings, this can be achieved utilising the scrolling mouse wheel, pressing the default zoom in key z or through any other key mapped specifically for this function on a keyboard, mouse or joystick/throttle controller. i think that it is necessary to zoom in an airplane in order to see the lines of the fuselage and the wings. currently, the most widely used zoom method is the default zoom, or the autozoom, which attempts to use the zoom level that works best for you. in reality, this is not necessarily the best value for a particular plane, due to the size of the plane. however, this can be changed by the user. war thunder has a common problem of noticeable drop in quality on mobile devices and on lower screen resolutions on the pc. we are working hard to fix this issue, but there are several things that have to be done before we can consider making a new release. 5ec8ef588b
